

I am for the indiana law on telephone privact and do not think you should weaken it in any manor. Even if the person is a customer of the business they should not be able to call anytime they want just to try to get you to change something. It should only be if there is a change in the account at that buisness or of the customer ok's that6 they can call anytime.